Many Chinese mothers are afraid that their children will fall behind their classmates, so these mothers are becoming "tiger mothers". They believe the harder their children study, the happier life they will have in the future. Is it true? Lulu and her sister Sophia may have a say.

Lulu and Sophia have a "tiger mother". She pushed them a lot when they were young. For example, they were not allowed to get grades lower than A's. They had to practise the piano or violin for several hours a day. There were no games or TV.

The tiger mother, Amy, is a Chinese-American professor at Yale Law School in the USA. Several years ago, she wrote a book named Battle Hymn of the Tiger Mother and shared her strict parenting style in it.

Many people don't like Amy's style of parenting. They once worried that her daughters would not be happy. However, the two girls have grown up and they are thankful to their mother.

Sophia has just graduated from Yale University. She is hard-working, friendly and helpful. Not long ago, she shared some useful studying tips online. Lulu is also a warm, smart and popular girl in her friends' eyes. She said tiger mothers believed that a child could succeed by being pushed to go all out.

Still, not everyone agrees with the tiger mother's parenting style. In fact, there isn't a parenting style that fits everyone. What's the best parenting style for you? Maybe you should work it out together with your parents.

34. In Lulu and Sophia's opinion, their mother is _____.

A. great　　B. worried　　C. humorous　　D. hateful

35. According to the passage, "tiger mothers" _____.

A. don't mind their children falling behind their classmates

B. don't care about their children's feelings when they grow up

C. believe pushing their children hard can help them succeed

D. believe the more happily the kids study, the harder their life will be

36. What can we infer(推断) from the passage?

A. You can find tiger mothers only in China.

B. Lulu graduated from Yale University.

C. Sophia is not a popular girl in her friends' eyes.

D. Different children need different parenting styles.

Woodcut is a kind of artwork on a piece of wood. Many traditional woodcuts are printed either black and white or simple in colour, but reduction woodcuts(绝版木刻) often show rich colours like Western oil paintings.

The reduction woodcuts are famous for their rich colours. On the same piece of wood, the artist cuts and prints different layers(层) in order. The artwork was listed as an intangible cultural heritage （非物质文化遗产）in Pu'er City, Yunnan Province, in 2009.

Leng Guangmian, 40, is a reduction woodcut artist. He started learning the art at college in 2003. He thinks that making reduction woodcut prints is just like an amazing journey. "Every time we cut a model on the woodblock and then print, we never know what it will be like in the end." As he sees beautiful models layer by layer, he gets more excited.

But finishing such work is not easy. Before cutting, he needs to plan for the whole print and choose colors for different layers. A big print usually takes months to finish.

Leng hopes his artwork can show not only excellent woodcutting skills but also local culture and life. "My works have two series(系列). One is called the Tea Horse Road, since Pu'er is one of the starting points of that road. The other is the Disappearing Villages," Leng said. "Many old villages in Pu'er need rebuilding for safety, so I want to make people remember their beauty before they are gone."

37. What's special about the reduction woodcut?

A. It has one layer.　　B. It is colourful.

C. It uses a piece of wood.　　D. It is simple in colour.

38. How is the work of making reduction woodcuts?

A. Amazing but difficult.　　B. Exciting and easy.

C. Boring and hard.　　D. Boring but easy.

39. What is Leng's purpose(目的) of making reduction woodcuts?

A. To tell his personal stories.　　B. To rebuild old local villages.

C. To teach woodcut skills in Yunnan.　　D. To show local life and culture.

40. What may be the best title for the passage?

A. An artist's story　　B. A Chinese artist

C. Making a colourful artwork on wood　　D. Learning special works in Yunnan

D

In China, more and more people fall in love with the "dirty foods" like the "dirty bun" and the "dirty milk tea", though they have terrible names.

The "dirty" story all began with the "dirty bun". A bread store in Beijing first made the "dirty bun" in 2017. __41__ We can see much chocolate cream inside the bun and a lot of chocolate powder(粉末) outside the bun. Why do people call it the "dirty bun"? First, it is because of its black or brown colour. Second, when you eat the bun, the chocolate can make your hands, even your face and clothes dirty. __42__ It spread(传播) fast from the capital city to many other parts of the country in a short time. __43__

A tea shop in Shanghai got a new idea of making "dirty milk tea". It was popular, too. The shop once made over 2,000 cups of the "dirty milk tea" in a day. __44__ It doesn't make you dirty at all. Why do people call it "dirty milk tea"? __45__ After people drink the milk tea, black sugar always leaves on the cup wall and makes the cup wall dirty.

Following the "dirty bun" and the "dirty milk tea", a growing number of "dirty foods" appeared later, such as the "dirty pizza", the "dirty cake", the "dirty coffee" and so on. What will be the next one in the "dirty family"?

A. However, the "dirty milk tea" isn't like the "dirty bun".
B. With success(成功), people started to make some other dirty things.
C. The "dirty bun" is a kind of bread with rich chocolate.
D. Because some black sugar is in the milk tea.
E. The "dirty bun" looks bad, but it tastes good.
F. The "dirty milk tea" is the same as the "dirty bun".

五、阅读表达(共5小题;每小题2分,计10分)

阅读下列短文,根据短文内容回答问题。(每题答案不超过10个词)

A few years ago, my husband and I were on an island for a weekend with our 3- and 4-year-old daughters. As we went back and thought about what to do next, our girls jumped in and told us exactly what they wanted to do. "We want to go to the butterfly museum," said Ariela and Eliana.

As soon as we walked into the main area of the museum, we saw thousands of beautiful butterflies, all flapping their colourful wings.

My girls were jumping up and down and I knew we had made the right decision to come to the museum. They were having so much fun. I turned to our museum tour guide because I was curious(好

奇的）and asked，“How long do butterflies live?” She said，“About ten days.”“What can butterflies do in ten days?” I asked. The guide stopped，looked at me and said，“They make the world a more beautiful place.”“Wow，” I said，“I never thought about butterflies like that. Thank you.”

After we said goodbye，I couldn't stop thinking about what the guide had said. She was right. We all have something to offer the world with the time we have. When we focus our gifts on taking care of each other every day，we can make a difference.

Appreciate the influence(影响) you can have on your family，friends，co-workers and neighbours. Like a butterfly，you have your own way of making the world a little better for everyone.
